Anglomania

MORE THAN ENGLISH

Phonics Reading Stories

قراءة وتأسيس صوتي: قصص الحروف

Listen ◆ Read ◆ Say

صفحة · Pages 46

Anglomania © 2026 · anglomaniaedu.com

lesson 1 : Letter A a

1. The Rainy Day (Focus: ai)

The rain started to fall on the window pane. Gail watched a tiny snail crawl along the trail. She hoped the mail would arrive on time, but the driver had to wait in a long train of cars. Gail decided to paint a picture of a main sail on a boat while she waited for the rain to pass.

2. A Day at the Bay (Focus: ay)

On a bright day in May, Ray went down to the bay. He loved to play in the sand and stay out until the sky turned gray. On his way home, he saw a deer eating hay. Ray wanted to say hello, but he did not want to scare the deer away.

3. The Brave Knight (Focus: ae / Long A sound)

The king lived in a grand castle by the chambre. A brave knight named Michael had a fierce adversaire in the valley. He had to regarder the horizon for any danger. With his shield and sword, he vowed to sauver the kingdom and bring paix back to the land.

4. The Tall Wall (Focus: all)

Ben threw a small ball against the brick wall. The ball bounced high, and it began to fall into the hall of the school. A tall teacher caught it before it could hit a picture on the wall. She smiled and asked Ben to call his friends so they could all go to the lunch hall together.

١

5. Autumn Dreams (Focus: au)

In the month of August, the air begins to change. Paul went to launch his new boat, but he had to pause because the water was too rough. He looked at the autumn leaves starting to drift. It was a faultless morning, and he felt a sense of applause in his heart for the beautiful season.

6. The Dawn Hawk (Focus: aw)

At the break of dawn, a giant hawk landed on the green lawn. It had a sharp claw and looked around with a sense of awe. The bird began to gnaw on a small twig. Suddenly, it saw a shadow, drew a quick breath, and flew up into the raw morning air.

7. The Train Track (Focus: Combined ai and ay)

Jay loves to watch the big train run on the track. Every day, he sits by the rail and waits for the whistle to blow. The conductor will wave and say hi. Jay hopes that one day he can pay for a ticket to ride the train all the way to Spain.

8. The Big Game (Focus: Combined all and aw)

The players walked into the grand hall for the big game. They had to crawl through a small door to get to the lawn. The crowd looked on with awe as the tall player caught the ball with his bare hand. Everyone started to shout and bawl with joy when the whistle blew.

9. Paul's Painting (Focus: Combined ai and au)

Paul wanted to paint a picture of an autumn tree. He took a lot of pains to mix the perfect shades of red and yellow. Because of a fault in his brush, some paint spilled on his sleeve, creating a giant stain. Paul had to pause his work to wash it out before the colors became permanent.

10. The Snail and the Hawk (Focus: Mixed Review)

A tiny snail was crawling slowly along the wall. High above, a sharp-eyed hawk watched from a tree branch. The hawk extended a powerful claw, ready to swoop down at dawn. But a sudden splash of rain began to fall, causing the snail to slip into a crack safely away from danger.

lesson 2 : Letter Cc

1. The Prince's Palace (Focus: ce as /s/)

The prince lived in a magnificent palace in the center of the city. Every morning, he would look out at the scenery with a cheerful face. He loved to dance in the grand ballroom, where the floor shone like ice. There was peace and silence across the kingdom because his justice was fair to everyone.

2. A Ride through the City (Focus: cy as /s/)

Lucy rode her bicycle to the city center to buy a new fancy dress. The weather forecast warned of a dangerous cyclone, but the sky looked clear for now. She passed by the local pharmacy and a store selling beautiful fancy gaskets. She knew she had to watch her policy on spending, but she couldn't resist a delicious pastry.

3. The Grand Cinema (Focus: ci as /s/)

Cindy bought a ticket to the cinema in the city. She sat in a wide circle near the front, eating snacks with a pinch of cinnamon. The movie was an exciting story about an ancient civilization and a hero who used magic to save a citizen in distress. The special effects made the whole experience absolutely incredible.

4. The Old Wooden Chair (Focus: ch as /tʃ/ - "chair")

Charlie sat on a wooden chair while eating a delicious cheese sandwich. He watched a little chick chirp in the yard near a cherry tree. His father was busy chopping wood for the chimney before the evening chill set in. Charlie loved to chat about his day and chase the playful puppy around the porch.

5. The School Chemist (Focus: ch as /k/ - "chemist")

Chris is a brilliant chemist who works in a massive chemical lab. He studies the character of different elements and wears a special mask to protect his stomach from fumes. Today, he is analyzing a historical chronicle about an ancient disease. His work requires perfect chorus and timing, almost like an orchestra playing a grand symphony.

6. The Kitchen Patch (Focus: tch as /tʃ/)

Mitch went to the kitchen to catch a fly that was buzzing around the fruit patch. He accidentally dropped his watch into the pancake batch on the counter. He had to stretch his arm to reach it before it sank. He used a small match to light the stove, careful not to scratch the shiny new surface of the counter.

7. The Studio Accent (Focus: cc as /ks/ - "accent")

The director liked the actor's unique accent during the audition. He gave his acceptance immediately, believing it would bring great success to the play. The scene required the actor to survive a dramatic car accident on a steep hill. The performance was so powerful that it had a massive access of praise from the entire crew.

8. The Bank Account (Focus: cc as /k/ - "account")

Mr. Jacob went to the bank to check his savings account. He wanted to accumulate enough funds to buy a new accommodation for his family. The clerk helped him accurately calculate the interest. There was no accusation of any error, and the bank was able to accommodate his requests with great professionalism.

9. A Special Chef (Focus: ce / ci as /ʃ/ - "special")

Chef Marc specializes in special pastries for grand occasions. He uses a precious blend of spices that gives his cakes a delicious flavor. His ocean-themed cake was an efficient masterpiece that surprised all the guests. Everyone agreed that his talent was a special gift to the culinary world.

10. The Chemical Explosion (Focus: Mixed ch as /k/ and ch as /tʃ/)

The chemist sat on his comfortable chair while checking his schedule. Suddenly, a strange chemical reaction caused a loud pop in the lab! He had to check the dials quickly to avoid a disaster. Thankfully, his stomach stopped churning when he realized it was just a small glitch, and he went back to chatting with his helper.

11. A Trip to the City Center (Focus: Mixed ce, cy, and ci as /s/)

Nancy rode her bicycle through the city center to visit the grand cinema. She noticed the beautiful scenery along the circle drive. The police officer gave her a warm smile as she passed the pharmacy. It was a special day, and she felt a deep sense of peace as she enjoyed her holiday.

12. The Stage Performance (Focus: Mixed tch and cc as /ks/)

The actor with the striking foreign accent had to catch a falling prop during the play. It was a complete accident, but he handled it with great success. The audience didn't even notice the glitch as he managed to stretch his arm just in time. The director praised his quick reflexes after the curtains closed.

13. The Accountant’s Choice (Focus: Mixed cc as /k/ and ch as /tʃ/)

The accountant sat on a leather chair to review the company’s main account. He had a choice to make regarding the budget for the new office chimney. He needed to check every single receipt to ensure everything was accurate before presenting the final numbers to the boss.

14. An Ocean Adventure (Focus: Mixed ce as /ʃ/ and ci as /s/)

A special team of scientists went to study the ocean depths. They wanted to find a precious type of coral that grew in a perfect circle. With great efficiency, they tracked the coordinates near an ancient sunken city. The discovery brought them immense satisfaction and praise from the citizens back home.

15. The Master Checklist (Focus: Comprehensive Review)

The chemist had a special checklist on his desk. He checked his bank account to ensure he had enough funds to buy a new bicycle for his daughter. He adjusted his chair, put on his glasses, and began to speak with a clear accent into his recorder, detailing the success of his latest chemical trial.

16- The Chemist's Discovery (Focus: ch as /k/)

Chris was a brilliant chemist who worked in a grand university chemical lab. He was a unique character with a lot of charisma, though his desk was always a scene of total chaos.

One day, Chris sat in his lab looking at an ancient chronicle book. He was studying the history of diseases like cholera, tracking how diet affects cholesterol, and researching how chlorophyll helps plants absorb light. He wrote down notes on different compounds, from basic chlorine gas to sodium chloride.

Suddenly, Chris felt a sharp ache in his back. He decided he needed a break from his chemistry work. He walked down the hall to the school's music room. Inside, the school choir was practicing a beautiful choral piece. The chorus sang a powerful chord, changing the melody into a traditional chorale that echoed through the building.

Chris smiled, feeling his chronic back pain fade away. He looked out the window and noticed a tiny chameleon sitting on a shiny chrome pipe near the ship dock, right where a massive iron anchor was resting. He felt grateful for his university scholarship, which allowed him to study the science of life every single day.

17- The Chic Special Event (Focus: ch as /ʃ/)

The grand event was organized by a famous head chef who was known for his chic and elegant style. Guests arrived at the venue in style, each driven by a professional chauffeur in a luxury car.

As part of the evening's entertainment, a performer pulled a cord and dropped safely onto the lawn using a massive parachute. He then slid down a special delivery chute to hand the main prize to the host.

Inside the hall, the guests played a lively game of charade, laughing and trying to guess the hidden words. Nearby, an advanced espresso machine hissed as it made coffee. The atmosphere was wonderful, completely free of any sour arguments or old-fashioned chauvinism, making every single chauvinist in attendance change their perspective and enjoy the modern, welcoming night.

lesson 3 : Letter Dd

1. A Day at the Park (-ed sounds like /t/)

Yesterday, Tom looked out the window and noticed the sun was shining. He packed a quick lunch and walked down to the local park. As he sat on the bench, he watched a puppy chase a ball until it stopped right at his feet. A runner passed by and waved, while a cat relaxed on a warm stone nearby. Tom laughed at the playful puppy before he headed home.

2. The Busy Weekend (-ed sounds like /ɪd/)

Last Saturday, Lily waited patiently for her morning delivery because she needed new supplies for her art project. She wanted to finish a landscape she had painted the week before. After she mended a small tear in the canvas, she added a few bright strokes of yellow. Her instructor later graded the piece and gave it an excellent mark.

3. Spring Cleaning (-ed sounds like /t/)

The family spent the whole morning cleaning the old garage. Dad boxed up the old tools and fixed the broken latch on the side door. Mom washed the dusty windows until they shined, while Ben stuffed old newspapers into a recycling bin. Once they were finished, they all relaxed on the porch, proud of how much they had accomplished.

4. The Birthday Party (-ed sounds like /ɪd/)

For his birthday, Sam greeted each guest with a big smile at the door. He had carefully dated the invitations weeks ago because he minded the schedule closely. Everyone hunted for hidden treasure clues in a game he created, and nobody hated the rainy weather outside because the indoor games were so fun.

5. The Mixed Review (Focus: Combined /t/ and /ɪd/ sounds)

The local baker booked a major event and needed to prepare dozens of treats. He fixed the temperature on his oven and waited for it to heat up. After he cooked the pastries, he stuffed them with fresh cream and added a touch of sugar. The customers greeted him with praise, and he relaxed after a highly successful day.

1. The Big Graduation Day (Focus: d sounding like /dʒ/)

The university was decorated with colorful banners for the spring graduation ceremony. Every individual student sat in their assigned seat, waiting proudly for their name to be called. Maya, a top engineering graduate, looked back at her years of study and smiled at her gradual progress. When she finally walked across the stage to receive her diploma, her family cheered loudly from the front row.

2. A Soldier's Daily Schedule (Focus: d sounding like /dʒ/)

A brave soldier named David followed a very strict daily schedule at the training camp. Every morning, he woke up early to review the safety procedure for his unit. The training required immense physical effort, but the gradual increase in his stamina made him stronger every week. He knew that every single individual in the squad had to work together to keep the camp secure.

3. The Science Laboratory Project (Focus: d sounding like /dʒ/)

In the chemistry lab, the research team carefully followed a complex testing procedure. They needed to isolate a specific chemical compound without leaving any residual particles in the glass tubes. Each individual sample was weighed and recorded in the master log. The scientists adjusted their weekly schedule to ensure they could monitor the gradual reaction of the liquids over time.

4. Planning the Future (Focus: d sounding like /dʒ/)

After celebrating his high school graduation, Adam had to set a new schedule for his life. He looked at various university programs, knowing that each individual course would require hard work. He understood that success is a gradual journey, not something that happens overnight. He felt prepared to follow the correct application procedure to secure his spot as a college freshman.

5. The Mixed Review (Focus: Comprehensive High-Density Practice)

An individual soldier stood on the academy grounds, thinking about his upcoming college graduation. He had carefully managed his busy schedule to finish his military duties while studying to become a graduate in computer science. The transition was a gradual process, but by following a disciplined daily procedure, he cleared away all residual doubts about his bright future ahead.

lesson 4 : Letter f

1. The Photography Trip (Focus: ph as /f/)

Philip took his favorite camera to the zoo to take a photograph of an elephant. He felt a surge of triumph when he captured a beautiful shot of the animal standing near a giant rock. Later, he used his smartphone to send the picture to his nephew. Philip loved learning about the biography of wildlife through his lens.

2. A Rough Day (Focus: gh as /f/)

The weather at the beach was incredibly rough today. The wind blew so hard that the sand made the children cough. Despite the chilly breeze, Tim gave a loud laugh as he ran along the shoreline. His mother told him he was tough enough to handle the cold, but she still handed him a warm jacket to wrap around his shoulders.

3. The Science Presentation (Focus: ph as /f/)

In science class, Sophie had to present a detailed graph showing the life cycle of a dolphin. She explained each phrase clearly so her classmates could follow along. Her teacher praised her excellent emphasis on key facts and her clear phonics delivery. The entire classroom erupted into applause at the end of her speech.

4. Enough Baking (Focus: gh as /f/)

Emily decided she had enough of buying store-bought bread, so she made a fresh batch of dough * (Note: silent gh)* to bake a rough-crust loaf. She worked hard to knead it, making sure the texture was just right. When it came out of the oven, she broke off a piece with a joyful laugh. It was crisp, delicious, and well worth the effort.

5. The Mixed Review (Focus: Combined ph and gh as /f/)

An author named Ralph wrote a funny story that made everyone laugh. The main character was a tough little orphan who discovered a magical glowing sphere in the woods. Ralph carefully checked every paragraph on his computer screen before printing it out. His friends agreed that the book had enough humor and heart to become a classic.

lesson 5 : Letter g

1. The Magic Jewel (Focus: Soft g — sounds like /dʒ/)

A gentle giant lived inside a massive cage made of gold. He possessed a magic gem that could change its color from orange to purple. A brave page boy went on a dangerous journey to rescue him. Together, they managed to escape and find refuge in a hidden village, where they became legends for their bravery.

2. The Garden Gate (Focus: Hard g — sounds like /g/)

Greg walked through the green garden gate to feed the hungry goats. He carried a big bag of delicious grain and a fresh grape for his favorite goose. Suddenly, a playful goldfish splashed in the small pond, making a loud noise. Greg gave a warm good morning greeting to the animals before heading back inside.

3. The Gym Class Adventure (Focus: Soft g — sounds like /dʒ/)

George went to the gym to practice his high jumps. His instructor, a generous man named Ginger, told him to imagine leaping like a wild giraffe. George used all his energy to clear the hurdle safely. Afterward, he drank a large glass of orange juice to cool down, proud of his great performance.

4. The Grand Camping Trip (Focus: Hard g — sounds like /g/)

The family packed their gear for a great camping trip near the glen. They pitched their tent on the ground right next to a patch of wild grass. Dad used a heavy log to start a bright campfire while the kids looked for frogs near the river gorge. It was a grand evening filled with fun, stories, and laughter.

5. The Mixed Review (Focus: Combined Hard and Soft g)

A gentle giraffe stood near the grand garden gate, munching on green leaves. A little girl named Maggie watched him from a safe distance while eating an orange. She noticed a giant bug crawling up a nearby log. Maggie felt a surge of energy and ran to get her camera so she could capture this magic moment.

lesson 6 : Letter h

1. The Kitchen Chase (Focus: ch and tch)

Charlie sat on a wooden chair in the kitchen, eating a cheese sandwich. Suddenly, he saw a tiny mouse run across a patch of sunlight on the floor! Charlie jumped up to catch it, but the mouse was too quick. It managed to match his speed and scampered right into a small crack near the chimney. Charlie could only watch and chuckle as the little creature escaped.

2. A Birthday Wish (Focus: Unvoiced th — sounds like thin)

Today is Samantha's thirteenth birthday. She thinks it will be a wonderful day. She stands by the table, taking a deep, thick breath before she blows out the three candles on her cake. Her throat is warm with excitement as she makes a secret wish. She thanks her family for everything and gives them a heartfelt smile from the bottom of path.

3. Gathering Together (Focus: Voiced th — sounds like they)

They decided to go to the park with their parents on a sunny afternoon. The weather was much warmer than it was yesterday. Their father brought a large blanket, while their mother packed delicious sandwiches. They all sat together on the grass, enjoying the smooth breeze as the autumn leaves gathered around them.

4. The Stormy Night (Focus: Combined Unvoiced and Voiced th)

The thunder crashed loudly through the night, shaking the thin glass windows of the cabin. Arthur woke up and felt a sudden chill in the air. He grabbed a thick blanket to wrap around his brother, who was still sleeping soundly. They both stayed close together, waiting for the fierce storm to pass so they could see the bright path in the morning.

5. The Mixed Review (Focus: Comprehensive ch, tch, and both th sounds)

A thin boy named Mitch went down to the river bank to catch some fish. He sat on a low bench under a shaded tree branch. Suddenly, he thought he saw a massive shadow moving through the deep water. With a quick snatch, he pulled his line, but it was just a floating log. They all laughed when he told them the story later that evening by the warm campfire.

- Phonics Reference Guide:

- ch / tch: Both make the same /tʃ/ sound, but tch is almost always used immediately after a short vowel sound (like catch, patch, watch).
- Unvoiced th (/θ/): Made with just air blowing through the teeth (e.g., thin, think, three, thirteenth).
- Voiced th (/ð/): Made with vocal cord vibration, creating a buzzing feel (e.g., they, father, mother, than, them)

lesson 7 : letter Oo

1. Joe's Heavy Load (Focus: oa and oe)

Joe put on his heavy winter coat to go outside into the cold. He had to carry a large load of coal down the long dirt road. On his way, he accidentally stubbed his big toe on a sharp rock. He stopped to rest and watched a little brown toad hop into a hollow log. Joe took a deep breath, picked up his heavy bag, and continued walking toward the foaming river.

2. The Town Crowd (Focus: ow and ou as /aʊ/ - "cow")

A massive crowd gathered in the center of the busy town. Everyone was looking up at the house on the hill, where a tiny mouse had escaped onto the roof. The children began to shout out loud as the mouse ran past a water spout. Suddenly, a majestic brown owl flew over the yard, and the little mouse quickly ducked into a pouch to hide from view.

3. Roy's New Coin (Focus: oy and oi)

A young boy named Roy was filled with pure joy today. He found a rare silver coin buried deep in the garden soil. He ran to the kitchen to show his mother, who was busy heating up cooking oil on the stove. The heat caused the liquid to boil and steam. Roy used his clear voice to ask if he could keep the treasure to buy a brand-new toy.

4. The Winter Window (Focus: ow as /oʊ/ - "blow")

The freezing winter wind began to blow, covering the entire yard in a deep blanket of white snow. Sally sat closely by the living room window to watch the flakes fall. She looked down at the valley where the river used to flow swiftly. The trees were growing slowly in the cold, and a dark crow sat quietly on a wooden fence post looking at the view below.

5. The Goat on the Boat (Focus: oa and ow Mix)

Joan took her pet goat for a ride on a small wooden boat. The water was calm, and they moved down the river in a straight row. Joan threw a small yellow loaf of bread to the ducks swimming nearby. The sun was starting to show a beautiful glow in the sky. She felt glad she decided to stow her gear and enjoy a relaxing afternoon away from the busy road.

6. A Noisy Choice (Focus: oi and ou Mix)

The cook made a choice to prepare a delicious soup for the family. He added a pinch of salt and a spoonful of virgin oil into the heavy iron pot. Suddenly, a loud sound came from the dining hall. The children were running around the table, making a massive amount of noise. The cook had to shout over the racket to tell them that dinner was ready to be served.

7. The Toy Voyage (Focus: oy and oa)

A creative boy named Floyd built a toy ship out of an old oar and some scrap wood. He placed the boat into the shallow stream near the old oak tree. The toy began to float away smoothly, bringing immense joy to Floyd's face. He followed its voyage along the water's edge, careful not to let the current destroy his beautiful handmade project.

8. The Owl and the Toad (Focus: Comprehensive Review)

At dusk, a giant owl sat on a branch overlooking a long dirt road. Down below, a fat toad hopped out from under a heavy coat that someone had dropped. The owl looked down with a sharp eye, but the toad was quick. It heard a strange sound, made a sudden bound, and slipped safely into a wet patch of soil beneath a large rock.

9. Cooking in the Cabin (Focus: Mixed Vowel Teams)

The family gathered inside the cozy cabin while the wind outside continued to blow. Inside, a piece of meat was starting to broil in the hot pan. Dad added a splash of fresh oil to ensure the food would not spoil. Mom sat on the couch by the window, wrapping her feet in a thick blanket to keep her toes warm while the dinner cooked.

10. The Mountain Scout (Focus: High Repetition ou and ow)

The brave scout hiked up the steep mountain slope. He looked down at the beautiful town far below him. The sky began to grow dark, and a heavy cloud threatened a massive shower of rain. He found a dry cave to avoid getting wet, sat down on the rocky ground, and pulled a warm sandwich out of his backpack to enjoy the quiet night.

11. The Monkey's Monday Wonder (oo and o making the /ʌ/ sound)

On a bright Monday morning, a playful monkey escaped from its cage at the zoo. It had stolen a shiny gold coin and hid the money inside a hollow tree. The zookeeper, a kind man who loved to wonder about animal behavior, looked everywhere for the missing prize. He asked his young son if he had seen anything, but the boy replied that no work could be done until they checked the monkey's favorite climbing spot. Luckily, before a chaotic flood of visitors entered the park, the zookeeper won the animal's trust with a sweet banana and retrieved the coin.

12. A Cold Month in the Woods (High Density /ʌ/ Sound Words)

It was a very long winter month, and the local monk sat quietly inside his stone cabin. He looked out at the river, which had experienced a sudden flash flood due to the melting mountain snow. Suddenly, he noticed a stray dog with a small cut on its paw, leaving tiny spots of blood on the icy ground. The monk did not panic over the bloody trail; instead, he quickly brought the animal inside, treated the wound, and felt a great sense of wonder at how calm the creature remained throughout the entire afternoon.

13. The Lonely King's Message (o + consonant + e making the /ɔː/ or /oʊ/ sound)

The old king sat alone on his massive wooden throne, looking out over his vast kingdom. He felt quite lonely because his guards were stationed far away in the outer defense zone. He picked up his mobile phone to listen to the dial tone, waiting patiently for an update from his messengers. He took a pen and carefully wrote a royal letter asking for more supplies to be moved to the castle. The king knew that a firm, steady tone would inspire confidence across the land.

14. A Hot Day at the River (Short o /ɒ/ sound before consonants)

The afternoon sun was incredibly hot, so Liam decided to walk down to the riverbank. He watched a small pebble drop into the water, causing ripples to spread around a large gray rock. A friendly dog ran past him, barked happily, and began to hop over the logs. Liam had to stop his walk for a moment to prevent the playful pup from trying to rob a fisherman's basket filled with fresh bait sitting on the dock.

15. The Cabin Review (Focus: Comprehensive Mixed Review)

Last Monday, an author sat alone in a cozy wooden cabin built right next to a massive granite rock. The weather outside was extremely hot, but he stayed inside to ensure his writing project was completely done before the end of the month. He picked up his phone to text his son about his progress, but the line went dead. Suddenly, a stray dog burst through the porch door, chasing a runaway monkey into the yard. The author had to stop typing, chuckling at the absolute wonder of nature unfolding right outside his window.

lesson 8 : b vs. p and q

1. Peter's Bright Puppy (Focus: Initial P and B)

Peter packed a big brown bag for a trip to the park. He brought a pink ball and a plastic cup for his playful puppy, Barnaby. As soon as they arrived, Barnaby began to bark at a beautiful butterfly sitting on a bench. Peter reached into his pocket to pull out a biscuit reward for his brave little dog.

2. The Backyard Bakery (Focus: B and P Blends)

Betty loves to bake fresh bread and sweet pies in her kitchen. Today, she placed a perfect plum tart into the hot oven. Her brother Bryan brought a large basket of blueberries and pears from the garden patch. They sat together on the back porch, pouring cold milk into cups while the delicious aroma of baking pastry filled the morning air.

3. The Beach Picnic (Focus: Medial and Final p and b)

A group of friends set up a campfire on the sandy beach. They used a shiny rubber tub to keep their soda pop cold. Bobby grabbed a grab bag filled with chips and a ripe peach. A small crab crawled up near the logs, causing everyone to jump back. They laughed and shared their supply of food until the sun went down.

4. The Busy Pirate (Focus: High Density P)

Captain Penny was a proud pirate who sailed a purple ship. He carried a pocket compass and a paper map to find a hidden piece of land. He had to push through a deep swamp to reach a secret path. When he finally located the treasure chest, he opened the top and found a collection of priceless pearls and shiny plates.

5. The Big Boat Ride (Focus: Mixed Review)

Ben and Polly hopped onto a big blue boat down at the pier. The water was peaceful, and a pleasant breeze blew across the deck. Polly used her binoculars to spot a playful dolphin bobbing up and down in the waves. Ben opened a box of potato crisps to share, feeling incredibly happy to spend a grand day out on the open water.

Phonics Teaching Tip: Students learning English sometimes mix up /p/ and /b/. Have them place their hand on their throat while speaking:

- When saying B (voiced), they should feel a physical vibration.
- When saying P (voiceless), their throat should be totally still, but they should feel a puff of air on their hand placed in front of their mouth!

1. The Quiet Queen (Focus: Initial qu)

Queen Quinn lived in a beautiful stone palace. She loved to sit on her throne wrapped in a warm, cozy quilt. The palace was incredibly quiet, and everyone spoke in soft whispers. One afternoon, a tiny mouse made a quick dash across the floor. The queen gave a sudden gasp, but she told her guards not to quarrel over who would catch it.

2. The Quick Quiz (Focus: qu in the classroom)

The teacher announced a surprise quiz on science topics. Quincy felt a bit of a quake in his stomach because he hadn't studied. The first question asked students to define a liquid. Quincy took a quick breath, picked up his pencil, and refused to quit. He finished the test on time and felt proud of his effort.

lesson 9 : Ss

1. The Animal Farm (Plural -s as /s/ after Voiceless Sounds)

Ben loves to spend his weekends working down at the local animal shelter. He counts the rats in their small cages and cleans out the mud where the outdoor troops play. He helps adjust the protective masks the staff wear when cleaning. Ben feeds the animals tiny apple slices right up to their lips. He updates the health rates every few months to make sure his favorite furry mates stay strong and healthy.

2. Opening the Delivery (Plural -s as /z/ after Voiced Sounds)

The delivery driver arrived at the school kitchen with a massive stack of crates. The staff sorted through boxes of fresh foods, dozens of eggs, and rows of canned goods to test the team's cooking skills. They opened metal cans filled with beans and stacked heavy kilos of rice onto the shelves. The head cook looked over the delivery logs, checked the latest news, and made sure everything went exactly where it belongs before the kitchen doors opened.

3. The New Office (Suffix -es as /ɪz/ after Sibilants)

The young manager was thrilled to receive his first official wages after starting his new job. He packed his belongings into cardboard boxes and carried them into the bright new classes upstairs. He checked the custom wall matches to make sure the paint colors matched. His daily schedule was full of different ages, and he had to balance the budget to cover utility causes and clear up any minor technical clashes before the grand opening.

4. The Pizza Shop Launch (Irregular /ts/ Spellings)

A trendy new restaurant downtown became an overnight sensation for its authentic Italian menu. The head chef spent months perfecting his signature thin-crust pizza. He also served a unique, crunchy zwieback bread alongside fresh Mediterranean salads. The local food critics praised the scientific precision of the kitchen, joking that the chef mixed his ingredients like a chemist balancing zwitterions. The long lines outside proved the launch was a massive success.

5. The Hidden Oasis (Vowel + S + Vowel as /z/)

Sarah loved to visit the local botanical conservatory during her school breaks. It was a peaceful housing structure designed to amuse and educate the public about exotic plants. She walked past a running water fountain that made a soft, soothing noise. The facility caretakers worked hard to ensure no plant would suffer from disease. Sarah smiled as she looked at the bright flowers, feeling that the closer she got to nature, the happier she felt.

6. A Simple Mistake (Spelled S between Vowels Pronounced as /s/)

The young student arrived at the testing center carrying a heavy purse filled with pencils and tools. He was nervous about the exam, but he knew he had memorized every basic formula. The test booklet sat inside a clean plastic case on his wooden desk. He took a deep breath to settle his nerves, grabbed his eraser, and began to work through each problem. He tried to decrease his speed so he wouldn't make a careless mistake on a useful question.

7. The Studio Session (Noun vs. Verb Pronunciation Shifts)

The career counselor gave some excellent advice to the graduate students today. She wanted to advise them on how to apply for a professional teaching license. She explained that they must practise their interview skills every day until their classroom practice feels natural and confident. She told them to keep their friends close and to close the gap on any weaknesses in their portfolios before entering the job market.

8. The Art Gallery Exhibit (Suffix -ssion and -ss as /ʃ/)

The modern art museum opened a beautiful new expression gallery this morning. The director’s main mission was to make a powerful impression on the local community. The grand procession of visitors walked slowly through the entry hall to view the colorful paintings. Everyone felt a wave of artistic passion as they examined the creative layouts, and many guests gathered inside the main mansion hall to discuss the cultural impact of the display.

9. Preparing for Winter (Spelled sio / su / sue as /ʃ/)

The construction crew was under immense pressure to complete the roof repairs before the winter season arrived. The site manager made sure that the structural tension of the building beams was completely safe. They monitored the physical dimension of the new expansion area carefully. The workers drank warm tea with a spoonful of sugar during their short breaks, working with total focus to complete the project without any delays.

10. The Laboratory Results (Suffix -sion as /ʒ/)

The scientific research team reached a historic conclusion after analyzing their data. Their clear division of labor allowed them to avoid any operational confusion during the intense trials. They checked the laboratory television screens to review the real-time cellular imaging patterns. The head scientist made a final decision to publish their findings, confident that their long-term vision would lead to a major medical breakthrough.

11. An International Conference (Spelled sia as /ʒə/)

Dr. Hany attended a major international conference highlighting economic growth across Asia. Representatives traveled from various countries, including Indonesia, Malaysia, and Tunisia, to share their unique developmental insights. The keynote speaker used a dynamic presentation to explain how modern trade routes have transformed these regions. The gathering was a huge success, helping to build strong educational partnerships across different continents.

12. A Relaxing Holiday (Spelled sua / sure as /ʒ/)

After months of hard work, the teacher finally enjoyed a well-deserved period of leisure. He took great pleasure in spending his mornings reading historical novels by the quiet sea. He walked along the shoreline, looking for hidden shells like a explorer searching for a rare treasure. It was a wonderful break from his usual busy schedule, allowing him to rest his mind and return to his studies with fresh energy.

13. The Weekend Projects (— Suffix -s/-es Sound Contrasts)

The local workshop was busy as craftsmen prepared their goods for the autumn festival. They polished shiny brass gates and sorted carved wooden boxes into neat rows. One worker counted the total rates of production while his assistant packed protective leather masks into shipping containers. Outside, a group of boys helped load heavy kilos of supplies into delivery trucks, making sure all the doors were locked tightly before departure.

14. A Wise Decision(S/Z Contrast between Vowels)

The city council met inside a grand community house to discuss a new environmental policy. The members wanted to decrease urban pollution and find a useful way to protect the local river basin. There was a brief debate, but they quickly reached a peaceful comparison of ideas. The head official smiled, happy to realise that their shared purpose would preserve this natural paradise for future generations.

15. The Creative Director (— /ʃ/ vs. /ʒ/ Sounds)

The media director made a firm decision to expand the network's cultural broadcasting channels. He felt a deep passion for showcasing global history on educational television. Under his leadership, the team managed a massive expansion project that left a fantastic impression on the board. The crew worked through intense pressure, but the final conclusion of the project brought immense pleasure to the entire studio.

lesson 10 : (ough) has nine pronunciation forms

1. The Baker's Morning (Focus: dough as /əʊ/)

Early every morning, the town baker wakes up to prepare fresh pastries. He rolls out the sweet dough on a large wooden table until it is perfectly smooth. Even though it is hard work, he loves seeing the loaves rise in the oven. He smiles through the window, knowing that his warm bread brings joy to everyone in the neighborhood.

2. A Wild Weather Day (Focus: rough and slough as /ʌf/)

The sea captain faced a very rough storm out on the open ocean today. Heavy waves crashed against the wooden deck, turning the calm harbor into a dangerous slough of swirling water. The crew had to work together using all their strength to keep the ship upright until they finally steered safely into a calm, sheltered bay.

3. The Forest Hike (Focus: through as /u:/)

The young scouts decided to take a long hike through the thick, green forest. They followed a winding dirt path that led them directly through a deep valley and past a running waterfall. Along the way, they checked their maps carefully to make sure they moved safely through the dense trees before the sun set.

4. A Cold Winter Night (Focus: thoughtful as /ɔ:/ and coughed as /ɔ:f/)

The thoughtful nurse brought a warm cup of herbal tea to the elderly patient. The poor man coughed loudly because of the dry winter air inside the clinic. He thought about how grateful he was for her kind care. After he drank the hot tea, his breathing calmed down, and he finally fell into a peaceful sleep.

5. Working the Fields (Focus: ploughman as /aʊ/)

A hardworking ploughman led his horses out to the wide fields early in the spring. He used a heavy iron tool to turn the dry soil into neat rows for planting. The ploughman worked under the warm sun for hours, ensuring the entire acreage was fully prepared to receive the new crop of corn seeds.

6. A Strange Illness (Focus: hiccoughed as /ʌp/)

Little Tommy ate his lunch much too fast and suddenly hiccoughed right at the dining table. He drank a large glass of cold water, but he hiccoughed once more. His mother laughed and told him to hold his breath for ten seconds. He tried the trick, and it worked perfectly—he stopped completely and finished his meal.

7. The Journey to Scarborough (Focus: Scarborough as /ə/)

The family packed their bags for a weekend holiday trip to the historic town of Scarborough. They drove down the coastal highway, enjoying the beautiful views of the sea cliffs. When they arrived in Scarborough, they visited the old castle ruins and walked along the sandy beaches, enjoying the fresh, cool ocean breeze.

8. Sifting the Marshland (Focus: slough as /aʊ/ or /ʌf/)

The environmental scientists spent their afternoon exploring a muddy slough near the river delta. They waded through the thick marsh grass to collect water samples from the stagnant pool. They knew this specific slough was a vital habitat for local birds, frogs, and rare insects that needed protected wetlands to survive.

9. The Comprehensive Review (Focus: Mixed -ough Sound Contrasts)

The thoughtful traveler walked through the busy streets of Scarborough on a chilly evening. He passed a bakery where a chef was kneading fresh dough near the window. Outside, the weather was turning rough, and a man wrapped in a heavy scarf coughed as he hurried down the street. It was fascinating to see how one town contained so many different stories unfolding all at once.

Teacher's Pronunciation Key Guide:

- -ough = /ʌf/: rough, slough (swamp)
- -ough = /əʊ/: *dough, though
- -ough = /uː/: *through
- -ough = /ɔː/ or /ɔːf/: *thoughtful, coughed
- -ough = /aʊ/: ploughman, slough (alternative)
- -ough = /ʌp/: *hiccoughed
- -ough = /ə/: *Scarborough

lesson 11 : letter Tt

1. The Art Gallery (Spelled ture / tue / tu making the /tʃ/ sound)

The modern museum was famous for its grand architectural structure. Inside the main hall, visitors gathered to admire a beautiful picture painted in the last century. The artist had used a unique mixture of oil paints to capture the true essence of nature. A student asked the university lecturer about the historic value of the display. The instructor smiled, noting that understanding global culture is a true virtue for any young scholar looking toward the future.

2. A Trip to the Mountains (High Density /tʃ/ Sound Variants)

The hiking team checked the outdoor temperature before climbing up the rocky trail. The mountain air was filled with heavy moisture, making the path slippery. The group leader was highly punctual and kept everyone moving according to the morning schedule. It was a mutual decision to stop near a historic stone statue at the summit. The climbers felt a deep sense of spiritual peace, realizing that escaping the busy city was a wonderful stroke of good fortune.

3. Family Gathering (Spelled th making the Voiced /ð/ sound)

Their father and mother decided to organize a big family dinner down at the park. They brought a soft leather blanket to spread across the green grass. Then, their older brother arrived carrying a large basket filled with fresh food. The afternoon weather was much warmer than it was last week, so no one had to bother wearing a heavy winter coat. They all sat together happily within the shaded garden area until the sun went down.

4. Morning Routine (Noun vs. Verb Pronunciation Shifts with th /θ/ and the /ð/)

The young swimmer woke up early and took a deep, clean breath of fresh morning air. He stepped into a warm water bath to relax his muscles before the big race. After drying off, he wrapped himself in a soft cotton cloth and began to clothe himself in his professional team uniform. He checked his reflection in the mirror, brushed his teeth, and smiled, ready to breathe deeply and focus entirely on winning the gold medal.

5. Thinking Deeply (Spelled th making the Voiceless /θ/ sound)

Sarah wanted to thank her teacher for a truly thorough science lesson on Thursday. The class had spent hours learning about the structural depth and width of the ocean floor. Sarah thought about the complex data all afternoon, trying to think of a creative topic for her upcoming project. She knew that discovering the scientific truth about marine life required a massive amount of research, patience, and dedication.

6. Healthy Living (High Density Voiceless /θ/ Sound Words)

Good health is a precious form of wealth that every single person should cherish. To maintain a strong body, an individual must think carefully about their daily nutrition and exercise. Building muscle strength and improving your physical length takes time and effort. When you push through a tough workout, you must use your mind to thrash away any doubts, keeping your focus entirely on your personal wellness goals.

7. The Tailor's Workshop (/tʃ/ and Voiceless /θ/ Contrast)

A thoughtful tailor sat in his workshop inspecting a long spool of green thread. He used his thumb to steady the fabric as he cut a clean line through the thick material. His workspace was decorated with a small wood picture of a historic theatre. The tailor worked with incredible precision, adjusting the final structure of the winter coat to ensure it possessed both durability and artistic virtue.

8. A Change in the Weather (Voiced /ð/ Sounds)

As the stormy weather approached, the birds quickly flew back to their nests within the dense forest trees. The wind blew hard, shaking a loose feather from a crow sitting on a high fence post. Down in the valley, a farmer hurried to clothe his young farm animals in protective blankets. He didn't want the freezing rain to bother them or make it difficult for the young calves to breathe comfortably during the night.

9. The Science Lecture (Digraph /tʃ/ and /θ/ Patterns)

During the university presentation, the speaker explained the exact ratio of minerals found in different types of soil. He used a dynamic graph to illustrate the physical depth of the earth's crustal structure. The lecturer thanked the students for their quiet attention throughout the session. He noted that exploring the laws of nature is a thorough journey that helps humanity unlock the mysteries of our planet's future.

10. The Royal Secret (Focus: Comprehensive Review)

They say that a grand treasure was buried deep inside the old castle walls over a century ago. A brave explorer thought he could locate the secret path by analyzing an ancient stone statue. He took a picture of the markings, studying them with total focus. With a deep breath, he pushed through a heavy iron door, thankful that his long journey had finally brought him face-to-face with the historic truth.

lesson 12 : letter Uu

1. A Healthy Snack ((ui making the /uː/ sound)

The local gym decided to recruit a new nutrition coach to help the athletes. She advised everyone to drink fresh orange juice instead of sugary soda after a hard workout. She packed a basket of fresh fruit, including ripe grapes and strawberries, which was a highly suitable snack for the team. The players learned that keeping their bodies fueled with natural fluid was the best way to maintain their energy levels.

2. The Music Lesson (eu and u_e making the /juː/ sound)

A talented student from Europe traveled across the continent to study classical music. He practiced a beautiful new tune on his instrument every single day. His teacher would never accuse him of being lazy because he was always focused. The student used a plastic tube to organize his sheet music safely. He adjusted the settings on his amplifier, proud that he could use his skills to create such a cute and pleasant melody.

3. Sunday Breakfast (Short u making the /ʌ/ sound)

On Sunday morning, the children ran into the kitchen to eat breakfast with their uncle. He was busy spreading creamy butter onto warm pieces of toast. Each child held a small cup of warm milk while sitting together at the table. They wanted to go play at the park but they had to finish cleaning up their plates first. They felt a bit unsure about the cloudy weather outside, hoping the sun would shine soon.

4. The New Project (ui making the short /ɪ/ sound)

The local builder decided to build a brand-new workshop in the center of the town. He hired a specialized guild of craftsmen to help him complete the structure safely. During their afternoon break, one worker picked up an acoustic guitar to play a cheerful song for the crew. A little guinea pig inside a cage in the corner squeaked happily, completely free of any guilt or worry as it watched the men work.

5. The Mountain Trek (ui making the long /aɪ/ sound)

A professional guide led a group of travelers up the steep mountain trail. He provided excellent guidance and gave them a strict safety guideline to follow so no one would get lost. One hiker wore a clever disguise with a large hat and dark sunglasses to shield his eyes from the bright sun. The team appreciated the leader's honesty, knowing he led them with clear direction and absolutely no guile.

lesson 13 : voice and voiced pairs

1. The Hissing Race (Focus: /s/ vs. /z/)

Sam took a sip of his cold drink and watched the zipper on his jacket slide down. He sat on a wooden seat near the fence to watch the animals at the zoo. A tiny seal swam in circles while a big brown bear began to gaze at the crowd. Sam felt a sudden chill in the air, so he pulled his collar up tight, enjoying the quiet scene as the afternoon sun began to sink low.

2. Busy Days (Focus: /s/ vs. /z/ Plural Endings)

The farm was full of activity as the morning began. A flock of cats rested on the porch while several dogs ran through the yard. The workers filled wooden crates with fresh apples and stacked heavy bags of seeds near the tractor. The children ran past the garden gates to check on the pigs sleeping in the mud, laughing out loud as the animals made soft grunting noises.

3. The Path of Truth (Focus: Voiceless /θ/ as in thin)

On Thursday, Arthur decided to take a thorough walk through the historic district. He passed a massive stone theatre that had been built a century ago. He stopped to think about the history of the town, keeping his thumb pressed against his old map. Arthur valued the absolute truth of historical data, believing that knowledge was a true form of mental wealth.

4. Family Weather (Focus: Voiced /ð/ as in them)

Their father and mother sat together on the front porch to enjoy the cool breeze. They watched their older brother help pack the car for a family weekend trip. The weather was much warmer today than it was yesterday, making everyone feel happy. Then, they called the children over to sit with them on a soft leather blanket spread across the green grass.

5. The Shopping Trip (Focus: Voiceless /ʃ/ as in shop)

Sharon walked into a bright clothing shop down on the main street. She wanted to find a new shirt with a sharp, clean design. She checked a long shelf filled with colorful dresses and soft winter coats. After making her selection, she walked to the counter, handed her cash to the cashier, and left the store feeling very satisfied with her new look.

6. A Television Decision (Focus: Voiced /ʒ/ as in vision)

The production team met inside the studio to make a final decision about the new show. They watched the massive television screen to review the edited video segments. The director had a clear vision for the documentary, wanting it to capture the peaceful leisure of country living. It brought the crew immense pleasure to see their hard work come together so beautifully.

7. The Kitchen Lunch (Focus: Voiceless /tʃ/ as in chair)

Charles sat quietly on a wooden chair near the kitchen counter. He ate a fresh cheese sandwich while watching the cook chop vegetables for a hot soup. The teacher checked her watch to ensure the children would return on time for their afternoon choice of reading books. Charles finished his lunch, threw his napkin in the bin, and ran outside to join the game.

8. The Jungle Journey (Focus: Voiced /dʒ/ as in jam)

A brave gemologist named Jack went on a grand voyage into the deep jungle. He carried a leather journal to record every single detail of his exploration. His main job was to locate a rare structural gem hidden inside an ancient stone cave. Jack felt a sudden surge of joy when his flashlight illuminated a beautiful, glowing crystal buried deep in the rock wall.

9. Sounds of the Storm (Focus: Mixed /ʃ/ and /ʒ/ Sounds)

A sudden shower of rain began to fall across the coastal town, causing people to run for shelter. Inside the resort, guests watched the storm unfold through the wide windows while relaxing in leisure. The storm created a dramatic vision of nature, but the atmosphere inside stayed cozy. The staff served warm drinks, ensuring everyone felt total pleasure despite the grey skies.

10. The Forest Lesson (Focus: Mixed /tʃ/ and /dʒ/ Sounds)

The university lecturer led a group of students into the woods to study the local vegetation. She picked up a small branch from a cherry tree to illustrate her point. Each individual student took careful notes in their notebook. The teacher explained how the gradual changes in nature alter the landscape, encouraging the class to cherish the beautiful heritage of the forest.

lesson 14 : x and z

1. Preparing for the Test (Written X between vowels making the /gz/ sound)

Hany sat at his desk to prepare for his final science exam. He wanted to examine every diagram in his textbook to ensure his notes were completely exact. He refused to let any distractions exist in his study room, turning off his phone entirely. He looked at a complex example of a chemical reaction on the page, working hard until he felt confident he could exhibit a perfect understanding of the topic on Tuesday morning.

2. An Exotic Journey (High Density /gz/ Sound Words)

The travel guide book described an exotic island located far across the ocean. The cost of booking a luxury resort there was exorbitant, but the reviews promised an exhilarating experience for visitors. A team of researchers decided to launch an exhaustive study of the island's wildlife. After hiking through the dense jungle for hours, the exhausted team finally reached the summit, happy to document rare birds that do not live anywhere else on Earth.

3. The Grand Hotel (Written x combinations making the /kʃ/ sound)

The wealthy family booked a suite at a highly luxurious hotel downtown. They enjoyed the absolute luxury of having a private swimming pool and a personal chef. Later that afternoon, the manager waited anxiously by the entrance for a famous guest to arrive. The staff worked with great care, ensuring that every detail was handled perfectly so the guests could relax without any stress or worry.

4. Playing a Tune (Focus: Initial X making the /z/ sound)

A talented young musician received a beautiful handmade xylophone as a graduation gift. She spent hours practicing a new song in her studio, striking the wooden bars to create a sweet melody. Her uncle, who worked at the Xerox copy center down the street, stopped by to listen. He praised her skills, joking that her music was the perfect cure for anyone suffering from stress or negative feelings.

5. A Sunny Day in the Yard (Focus: Letter Y as a Consonant /j/)

Yesterday morning, a young boy named Youssef ran out into the grassy yard to play. He wore a bright yellow shirt and carried a toy boat. He began to yawn because he had woken up very early, but he was too excited to sleep. He shouted "yes" when his mother asked if he wanted a bowl of yogurt for breakfast, running back to the kitchen with a huge smile on his face.

6. Sifting the Soil (Focus: Letter Y making the Long /aɪ/ sound in single-syllable words)

The sky was clear and dry as the children walked down to the river bank. They wanted to try and find some smooth stones buried deep in the mud. A small fly buzzed around them, landing on a dry branch nearby. Billy looked up at the sky and wondered why the clouds moved so quickly, feeling determined to solve the mystery before it was time to head home for dinner.

7. The Busy Kitchen (Focus: Letter Y making the /iː/ sound at the end of two-syllable words)

The local bakery was incredibly busy on a sunny Saturday morning. The chef prepared a tasty cherry pie while his assistant washed a dirty pan in the sink. A lucky little puppy sat by the door, wagging its tail happily as it smelled the fresh bread. The staff worked quickly to serve the long line of customers, ensuring everyone left the shop with a delicious treat.

8. A Challenging Task (/gz/ vs. /kʃ/ Sounds)

The laboratory technicians faced an anxious moment as they waited for the computer exam results. They needed to examine the data to see if the machine could handle a highly luxurious computing load. It required an exorbitant amount of power to run the trial, but the system passed the test perfectly. The team felt relieved, knowing their exhaustive preparation had saved the project from failure.

9. The Summer Hobby (Focus: Mixed Consonant and Vowel Sounds of Y)

An energetic young girl named Sally loves to paint beautiful scenery during her leisure time. On a sunny day, she sits by the window to capture the bright blue sky on her canvas. She uses a tasty cup of berry juice to keep herself refreshed while she works. She feels a deep sense of joy whenever she finishes a new project, showing that a creative hobby is a wonderful way to express yourself.

10. The Scientific Discovery (Focus: Comprehensive Review of X and Y Sounds)

The university researchers completed an exact study on a rare species of exotic plants. Every individual scientist worked anxiously to finish the final exam reports before the end of the month. They checked their results on a high-definition screen, feeling exhausted but incredibly happy. Their exhaustive research provided clear guidance for future students, proving that hard work is the true key to academic success.

lesson 16: Diagraphs .

1. The Beach Adventure (Focus: Digraphs ch, sh, and ck)

The children ran down to the sunny beach to look for shells. Jack carried a small wooden bucket to collect shiny rocks and tiny crabs near the shore. His teacher sat on a chair under a big umbrella, watching the waves crash against the dock. Jack managed to catch a small silver fish, but it was too quick and slipped right back into the deep ocean water before he could show his friends.

2. A Trip to the Theater (Focus: Digraphs th [voiced/voiceless] and ph)

On Thursday, Philip took a thorough walk through the city to visit the grand theatre. He used his smartphone to take a clear photo of the historic building's graphic design. He thought about the history of the actors who had stood on that stage decades ago. They had spent their lives sharing stories, and Philip felt thankful for the opportunity to watch them perform tonight.

3. The Graduation Ceremony (Focus: Ending Chunks -tion and -cian)

The university organized a grand celebration to mark the spring graduation day. The students took action to decorate the hall, ensuring the location was perfect for the guests. A talented musician played a beautiful melody on the piano, adding a wonderful mood to the education event. The campus director gave a short speech, offering his congratulations to the students for their hard work and dedication.

4. The Executive Decision (Focus: Ending Chunks -sion and -sure)

The corporate committee met in the boardroom to make a major decision regarding the network's seasonal program schedule. They watched the wide television screen to review the edited video segments, aiming to avoid any market confusion. The director had a clear vision for the channel's future growth, and it brought the entire crew immense pleasure to see their long-term persuasion turn into a successful partnership.

5. The Nature Lecture (Focus: Ending Chunk -ture and Mixed Digraph Review)

The university lecturer led a group of science students into the forest to examine its ecological structure. She brought a detailed picture of local plant life to illustrate her points during the session. The group observed how nature changes over time, noting the moisture levels in the soil. The teacher told the class that preserving this beautiful culture was vital for the future of the planet.

lesson 17: Diphthongs .

1. The Mountain Storm (Focus: Diphthong /aʊ/ — spelled ou and ow)

The campers climbed up the steep mountain trail, looking up at the gray clouds in the sky. Suddenly, a loud sound of thunder echoed through the valley. The wind began to blow leaves all around the campsite. The children ran down the hill to find shelter inside a wooden cabin. They wrapped themselves in warm blankets, listening to the rain pour out on the ground while the storm passed over the town.

2. The Toy Shop Discovery (Focus: Diphthong /ɔɪ/ — spelled oi and oy)

A cheerful young boy named Roy went to the local market to buy a new game. He found a unique toy train that made a soft whirring noise when it moved. The shopkeeper explained that the engine used a special metal coil to spin the wheels smoothly. Roy paid for the train with a silver coin, feeling immense joy as he took his new package home, careful not to spoil his favorite new possession.

3. A Bright Night (Focus: Diphthong /aɪ/ — spelled igh, ie, and y)

The night sky was completely clear, and the moon was shining bright over the quiet river. Leo decided to try and catch a glimpse of the stars from the wooden pier. He looked up high into the dark blue expanse, watching a tiny shooting star fly past. He took a deep sigh of relief, happy to escape the busy city and enjoy a peaceful evening by himself under the glowing starlight.

4. The Rainy Day Train (Focus: Diphthong /eɪ/ — spelled ai and ay)

On a gray Saturday morning, the rain began to fall heavily against the window. Tim had to wait inside the station for the afternoon train to arrive. He decided to play a quick matching game on his phone to pass the time. The conductor shouted that there would be a brief delay on the main rail line, but Tim stayed patient, knowing he would reach his destination safely by the end of the day.

5. The Goat on the Boat (Focus: Diphthong /oʊ/ — spelled oa and ow)

A farmer led his favorite white goat down to the harbor to cross the wide river. They boarded a wooden boat that floated gently on the calm water. The farmer wore a heavy winter coat because the morning wind was quite cold. As they began to row toward the opposite shore, they watched the sun rise low in the sky, lighting up the entire valley with a beautiful golden glow.

For teachers and specialists .

The difference between (phonetics , phonics and phonology)

1. Phonetics: The Physical Science of Sound

Phonetics is a branch of linguistics that focuses on the raw, physical production of human speech sounds. It doesn't care about a specific language's rules; it only cares about the physical reality of the sound. علم الصوتيات هو فرع من فروع اللغويات يركز على الإنتاج المادي الخام لأصوات الكلام البشري. لا يهتم بقواعد لغة معينة، بل يهتم فقط بالواقع المادي للصوت.

- The Focus: How your mouth, tongue, vocal cords, and lungs physically create a sound, and how the ear hears it.
  - التركيز: كيف يقوم الفم واللسان والأحبال الصوتية والرئتان فعلياً بإنتاج الصوت، وكيف تسمعه الأذن.
- Key Question: *Where is the tongue when making the /t/ sound? Is the voice box vibrating?
  - السؤال الرئيسي: أين يكون اللسان عند نطق صوت /ت/؟ هل يهتز الحنجرة؟
- Example: Defining the sound /b/ as a "voiced bilabial plosive" because both lips close and the vocal cords vibrate.
  - مثال: تعريف الصوت /ب/ على أنه "صوت انفجاري شفوي مجهور" لأن الشفتين تغلقان والأحبال الصوتية تهتز.
- Tool Used: The International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA)—where every single human speech sound has one specific symbol.
  - الأداة المستخدمة: الأبجدية الصوتية الدولية (IPA) - حيث يكون لكل صوت من أصوات الكلام البشري رمز محدد واحد.

2. Phonics: The Tool for Reading and Writing

Phonics is not a branch of linguistics. It is a method of teaching reading and writing. It bridges the gap between the sounds we say and the letters we write.

علم الصوتيات ليس فرعاً من فروع اللغويات، بل هو أسلوب لتعليم القراءة والكتابة، فهو يربط بين الأصوات التي ننطقها والحروف التي نكتبها.

- The Focus: The relationship between letters (graphemes) and spoken sounds (phonemes).
  - •التركيز: العلاقة بين الحروف (شكل الحروف) والأصوات المنطوقة (الوحدات الصوتية)
- Key Question: *What sound do the written letters "sh" make when they are put together?
  - •السؤال الرئيسي: ما هو الصوت الذي تصدره الحروف المكتوبة "sh" عند وضعها معًا؟
- Example: Teaching a child or an English language learner that the letters o-a together say the long /oʊ/ sound, as in the word boat.
  - •مثال: تعليم طفل أو متعلم اللغة الإنجليزية أن الحرفين o-a معًا ينطقان الصوت الطويل/oʊ/ ، كما في كلمةboat.
- Goal: Literacy. It is entirely designed to help people learn how to decode (read) and encode (spell) words.
  - • الهدف: محو الأمية. تم تصميمه بالكامل لمساعدة الناس على تعلم كيفية فك رموز الكلمات (قراءتها) وكتابتها (تهجئتها).

1. Consonants

IPA Symbol	Sound Type (Place & Manner)	English Example	Phonetic Transcription
/p/	Bilabial - Plosive - Voiceless	Pen	/pɛn/
/b/	Bilabial - Plosive - Voiced	Bad	/bæd/
/t/	Alveolar - Plosive - Voiceless	Tea	/tiː/
/d/	Alveolar - Plosive - Voiced	Did	/dɪd/
/k/	Velar - Plosive - Voiceless	Cat	/kæt/
/g/	Velar - Plosive - Voiced	Get	/gɛt/
/f/	Labiodental - Fricative - Voiceless	Fall	/fɔːl/

/v/	Labiodental - Fricative - Voiced	Voice	/vɔɪs/
/θ/	Dental - Fricative - Voiceless	Think	/θɪŋk/
/ð/	Dental - Fricative - Voiced	This	/ðɪs/
/s/	Alveolar - Fricative - Voiceless	See	/siː/
/z/	Alveolar - Fricative - Voiced	Zoo	/zuː/
/ʃ/	Post-alveolar - Fricative - Voiceless	Show	/ʃəʊ/
/ʒ/	Post-alveolar - Fricative - Voiced	Vision	/ˈvɪʒən/
/h/	Glottal - Fricative - Voiceless	Hat	/hæt/
/tʃ/	Post-alveolar - Affricate - Voiceless	Church	/tʃɜːtʃ/
/dʒ/	Post-alveolar - Affricate - Voiced	Judge	/dʒʌdʒ/
/m/	Bilabial - Nasal	Man	/mæn/
/n/	Alveolar - Nasal	No	/nəʊ/
/ŋ/	Velar - Nasal	Sing	/sɪŋ/
/l/	Alveolar - Lateral approximant	Leg	/lɛg/
/r/	Post-alveolar - Approximant	Red	/rɛd/
/j/	Palatal - Approximant (Glide)	Yes	/jɛs/
/w/	Labio-velar - Approximant (Glide)	Wet	/wɛt/

2. Short and Long Vowels (Monophthongs)

IPA Symbol	Vowel Type	English Example	Phonetic Transcription
/ɪ/	Short - Close-mid front	Sit	/sɪt/
/iː/	Long - Close front	See	/siː/
/e/	Short - Open-mid front	Met	/mɛt/
/æ/	Short - Open front	Cat	/kæt/
/ʌ/	Short - Open-mid central	Cup	/kʌp/
/ɑː/	Long - Open back	Arm	/ɑːm/
/ɒ/	Short - Open back rounded	Hot	/hɒt/
/ɔː/	Long - Open-mid back rounded	Saw	/sɔː/
/ʊ/	Short - Close-mid back rounded	Put	/pʊt/
/uː/	Long - Close back rounded	Too	/tuː/
/ɜː/	Long - Open-mid central	Bird	/bɜːd/
/ə/	Schwa (Short central unrounded)	About	/əˈbaʊt/

3. Diphthongs (Gliding Vowels)

IPA Symbol	Movement (From → To)	English Example	Phonetic Transcription
/eɪ/	From /e/ to /ɪ/	Face	/feɪs/
/aɪ/	From /a/ to /ɪ/	My	/maɪ/

/ɔɪ/	From /ɔ/ to /ɪ/	Boy	/bɔɪ/
/əʊ/	From /ə/ to /ʊ/	No	/nəʊ/
/aʊ/	From /a/ to /ʊ/	Now	/naʊ/
/ɪə/	From /ɪ/ to /ə/	Near	/nɪə/
/eə/	From /e/ to /ə/	Hair	/heə/
/ʊə/	From /ʊ/ to /ə/	Pure	/pjʊə/

Anglomania

MORE THAN ENGLISH

واصل رحلتك مع أنجلومانيا

دروس وكتب واختبارات وأدوات تعليمية مجانية في مكان واحد

anglomaniaedu.com

Anglomania © 2026